WHAT ARE VACCINE SUNDAYS?

Vaccine Sundays is a project designed to provide vetted information from trusted resources to the underserved Spanish-speaking community in Colorado. The goal is to make prevention education and outreach part of the Church's ministry.

Julissa provides trusted, and vetted information on COVID-19 information that fosters preparedness rather than stoking fear and perpetuating myths. She provides information in Spanish on the signs and symptoms of COVID-19. She educates the congregation on infection prevention habits, like proper handwashing techniques and other common practices frequently taught to combat influenza. She teaches infection control strategies, provides healthful habit reminders and provides information on how to get vaccines. She also posts fliers and disseminates information regarding vaccine sites in the community.

HEAR WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

“She is a great advocate for the Hispanic Community in the State of Colorado. Among many other achievements, Ms. Soto has created a new event called “Vaccine Sunday.” This event gives people the opportunity to receive the appropriate information to form their conscience. This is very important, as some preachers and other sources misguide our Hispanic community about the importance and/or the benefits of the vaccine.” ~ Fr. Adrian Hernandez, Ascension Catholic Parish in Denver

“She spoke after masses about her work in the community and people reacted very positively to her encouragement to get vaccinated...I believe this event gives them the opportunity to receive their due protection.” ~ Fr. Erik Vigil Reyes, St. Helena Catholic Church in Fort Morgan
